The 1940 Aurora

Published by the students of Michigan State Normal College,
Ypsilanti, Michigan

Dedication

FORTY-EIGHT years ago a small group of students published the first Aurora. Leading that group in a new enterprise was a young man whose name is familiar to every student, past or present, who has attended Michigan State Normal College. He is one of the many students who came back to their alma mater to serve her. He ends his active service as a friend and teacher with his retirement this year. It is only fitting that we of the college should recognize his contribution to the college. His contribution has been made quietly but steadily; he has not tried to gain glory for his name, but for Ypsi. It is with love and admiration and with great appreciation that we dedicate the 1940 Aurora to J. Stuart Lathers.

Now and Then

Now . . . head of the Speech Department. Then . . . Editor of the first AURORA. Now . . . a beloved teacher and friend to students who have come in contact with him over a long period of years. Then . . . a student gaining from his teachers what we have gained from him.

Foreword

THE never ending circle that is human life has in its very essence been reflected on the Michigan State Normal College campus in this last year. That which is symbolic of man's strength, his ambitions, his progress has been expressed through the broadening program of expansion serving to make the college more fruitful in its offerings. Unhappily, in contrast, the year has seen noble characters, so long a living part of the college as we know and love it, pass on and recede into its background. But they serve now to enrich its history, and leave upon it forever the stamp of finest scholarship, highest character, and loftiest idealism.

LIKE that of a Horatio Alger hero, the story of President John M. Munson's life is a continuous saga of accomplishments.

In its chapters unfolds the story of boyhood on a Pennsylvania farm, a youth in Michigan's Upper peninsula during the timber era, fleeting glimpses of logging camps, railroad gangs, a one-room school, and finally the long upward climb which during the past two decades has kept him a prominent leader in Michigan education.

To him the college body expresses its gratitude for the current unparalleled expansion program which will keep Michigan State Normal College in the fore among the nation's teacher training colleges.

PRESIDENT JOHN M. MUNSON

DEAN HOVER

A radiating center of business, the administrative office of Dean J. Milton Hover, is a constant hum of activity which inevitably must have an effect upon every student on campus. The valued signature of "J. M." may pass approval on a student loan or a change in curriculum—its powers are unlimited! No wonder, then, that the business transacted in his office is unlimited too!

Another signature, the value of which cannot be overestimated, belongs to C. P. Steimle. To "C. P." goes the task of signing those vital papers which admit and graduate students. To "C. P." goes the headache of keeping in constant touch with this business of credits. To "C. P." come scores of students with unhappy tales of woe concerning credits. But "C. P." handles his business well—and there can be no other.

DEAN HILL Susan Hill

Into every life some rain must fall—and a little sunshine too. Every student must inevitably contact a little of both from the offices of the Deans of Men and Women during the four-year sojourn on campus.

New to the office of Dean of Women is Miss Susan B. Hill, who came to Michigan Normal in the fall to fill the position vacated last year by Dean Lydia I. Jones. Miss Hill, formerly of Iowa State Teacher's College where she served as assistant dean of women for two years, strikes just the right note in charm and just the right attitude in discipline. According to Coeds' reports then she is "just right."

Invaluable as a co-worker in the Dean's office is Miss Fannie Beal, whose functions are of vital significance to the smooth running machinery of that office. Without her assistance Miss Hill would have had a more difficult time in acclimating herself to her new position.

To the "Men of Ypsilanti" there's only one—and that's "Bingo"! Dean James M. Brown has been a familiar figure on the campus since 1923, his importance to the campus increasing with the years. Nothing less than a landmark is Bing!

Welch Hall is the setting for the teaching of the masterpieces in literature, and the best methods for the creation of collegiate masterpieces of composition. A ceaseless stream of students flows in and out the doors of the old hall, trekking to and from classes in English offered by the staff of which Dr. Gerald Sanders is head.

Closely correlated with work in English is work in speech. Under the headship of Professor J. Stuart Lathers, the instructors in the speech department deal diplomatically with aspiring Bernhardts and Websters.

Study center from 7:45 a.m. to 9:45 p.m. describes to a "T" the college library. A heavy schedule of work must consistently be met by the busy staff who know the intricacies of library shelves. Miss Elsie V. Andrews is the Head Librarian.

Dr. R. Clyde Ford is the head of the Modern Language Department which is situated on the second floor of the library. The Ancient Language Department, with which it works hand in hand, is on the second floor of Pierce Hall. Everything old and new, everything universal is contacted in the halls of the languages.

Lindegren, Ryan, Ashby, McAndrew, James, Gray, Fossenkemper, Roller, Alexander Skinner, Seaman, Adams, Bartlett, McManus, Breakey

On the eastern borderline of the campus lies Pease Auditorium, nucleus of the music school. Serving his last years of a thirty year reign, Professor Frederick Alexander heads one of the finest college conservatories in the country. Of special note are the college Choir and the Symphony Orchestra with their fine music which is known throughout the state. Noteworthy also are the Madrigal Club and the Band which present their music to the college audience. Among all the concerts given by these groups this year we might especially mention the all-Mozart program by the Orchestra, the Christmas Concert by the Choir, and the combined Bach Festival. As a passing thought, doesn't it sound funny to hear prospective teachers screeching "Have you seen Polly's Bonnet?" at the top of their vocal range? Ah, for the life of an elementary music student! Harmony, Counterpoint, Orchestration, Education, and Applied Music all form vital parts of the musician's life here.

Swete, Gill, Strafer, Porter

The Administration building being our next destination, we enter, climb the stairs, and find ourselves in the Fine Arts Studios surrounded by beauty on every side. Mr. Orlo Gill and his capable assistants teach the technique of sculpturing, painting, blackboard drawing, life sketching, design, and etching to a large group of collegians. Exhibits of student work, work of the faculty, and the works of famous artists are on constant display in the gallery.

Trudging back to the now familiar Welch Hall, we proceed to the Home Economics department. Here the work of women is much in evidence. Food buying, meal planning, clothing, home management, and cooking—these are only a few of the phases of homemaking that become familiar to coeds who here give their natural talents a free rein under the direction of Miss Estelle Bauch. To supplement the home economics course, and to give women students a fling at true-to-life-housekeeping, the department runs a practice house under the direction of Miss Eula Underbrink. Familiar to campusites, the big white frame house radiates odors of home cooking, soap and water, furniture polish—and lots of hard work.

Bauch, Kelly, Underbrink

Herrick, Springman, Wharton

Commercial students spend most of their specializing time on the third floor of Pierce Hall where Professor John Springman drills them in Typing, Accounting, Shorthand, Business Law, Advertising and Salesmanship, and other business courses.

In the basement of the "Ad" building work with the hands is prevalent, for this is the home of the Industrial Arts Department. Under the supervision of Professor George A. Willoughby, classes like Practical Electricity, Metal Work, Mechanical Drawing, and Arts and Crafts are taught.

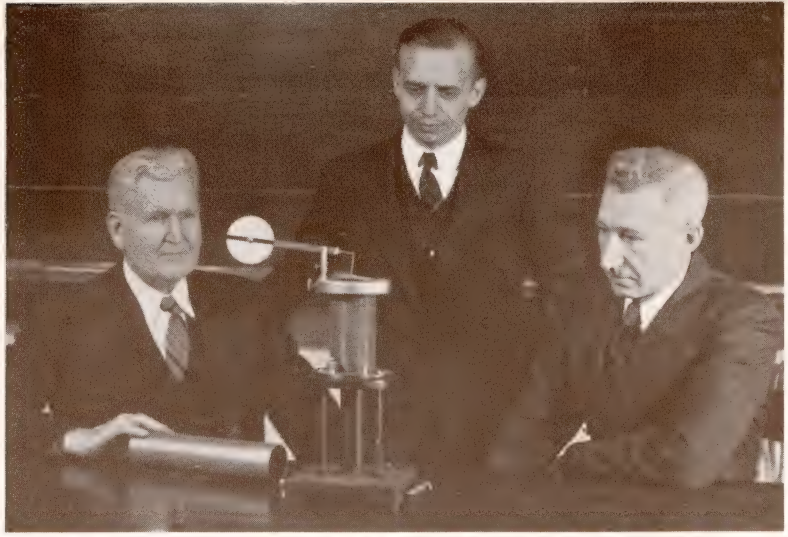
Chamberlain, Morrison, Willoughby, Hatton, Lappinen

Loesell, Sturgeon, Goddard, Hickman, Hover
Uhvits, Best, Curtis, Harpster

The old red building in front of the famed Science Gardens is next the center of our explorations. In the rooms devoted to Natural Science there are Classes in Agriculture, Botany, Geology, Biology, Elementary Science, Zoology, and Human Physiology and Anatomy. The complex science of life assumes a vital importance as students plant and care for gardens, collect insects, take bird trips at 5 A.M., and study the functions of the human body. Professor J. Milton Hover is the guiding power in this department.

Closely allied, and in the same building, are the Chemistry laboratories. Seldom do we hear of Inorganic, Qualitative, Organic, or Food Analysis being "snap courses," thanks to the ingenuity and thoroughness of Professor Bert W. Peet, head of this division of scientific exploration.

Brundage, Kercheval, Peet, Sellers



Gorton, Wilcox, Smith

Professor Frederick Gorton runs his Physics and Astronomy Department in the Science building, too. The Mechanics of Heat and Sound, Electrical Measurements, Mechanics of Solids, and Modern Physics are all required on a Physics major. But here, too, the moon and star gazers really come into their own, for where could one find a more appropriate setting to "star gaze" than in the observatory on the top floor? Courses in Astronomy are useful to teachers in the grades as well as those in the higher levels.

Figures, figures, figures, round and round they go—where they stop . . . who cares? Professor Theodore Lindquist and the staff of the Mathematics department! Well-filled classes in Pierce Hall study the intricacies of logic and figures varying from classes like Integral Calculus and Analytic Geometry to Industrial Mathematics and Insurance.

Lindquist, Erikson, Barnhill

Thomson, Blackenburg, Devol, Isbell
Fagerstrom, Warren, Hubbell, Field, Waugh

Here in Pierce Hall we also find the History and Social Science department. These courses are the ones which invariably require all that supplementary reading. Remember? United States, Ancient, Medieval, and Modern History, presented in scores of interesting phases, plus diverse courses in Sociology, Political Science, and Economics comprise this section of study.

"What, where, and why is the tropical monsoon region?" If you are among the innumerables who don't have the answer to this puzzle on the tip of their tongues, we would advise you to take a course in geography. The staff of this interesting department spends its hours telling where people live, why they live there, and how they live. Of particular value during this year was the information concerning the European war and its universal effects. Students in geography classes learn where to draw the lines, but there are no boundaries to the information given out in this lively department which is headed by Dr. James Glasgow.

For that most striking combination of the very ancient and the very, very new the physical education department and its home reign as the impeccable example.

Foremost among the physical education departments in the country, its modernism is rendered the more interesting because of its less up to date background. But the ancient architecture of the stately, castledomed gym is no hindrance to the progressive work carried on by a popular, busy staff under the headship of Professor Joseph H. McCulloch.

Hipple, Snow, Kane

Situated on the eastern corner of the campus, the new health residence is a sparkling example of modern structure plus modern efficiency for the care of physically unhappy collegians. And incidentally, it is rumored that Dr. Glenadine Snow is especially apt in refreshing the mentally unhappy students too. It's the place to go when you're "down" —Health Cottage.

Courses in Educational Psychology, Principles of Teaching, History of Education, Tests and Measurements, and School Administration are only a few of the requirements of the Department of Education which is guided by Dr. Noble Lee Garrison. In these classes, held in Pierce Hall, the students learn the technicalities of managing the schoolroom in superior style.

Serving in the duo-capacity of supervisor of the training school and director of the placement bureau, Dr. Leslie A. Butler gives the final impetus to the aspiring pedagogues. After serving a year's apprenticeship in teaching under critical professional eyes, most of the prospective graduates, just previous to commencement time, undergo a tense two months dotted with interviews. But when the graduation day hits the calendar, the grad-to-be usually carries a diploma in his fist and a contract up his sleeve. And to whom goes the thanks for that invaluable cargo? It goes to Dr. Butler and his placement bureau.

The modernistic building behind the Science Gardens is our next destination. Here we are trained to teach the deaf, blind, mentally deficient and crippled children. Complete up-to-date equipment is a great aid in this work which is carried under the direction of Professor Charles M. Elliott. Special dormitories with full home privileges are available for the experimental group.

Here on the campus our practice teaching is done in connection with the Roosevelt School of which Mr. Ben H. VandenBelt is the principal. The school includes all grades, and the building, equipment, and grounds were especially designed for meeting all the purposes of an adequate teacher training plant.

Preparing teachers for rural schools is an important task here at M. S. N. C. The Rural Education department was headed during the first semester by Dr. Harvey L. Turner. When Dr. Turner left for a three-year leave of absence to take an important position in state education, he was succeeded by Professor Troy Stearns, who directed the department during the second semester. Students preparing for work ranging from the teaching of one and two room rural schools to that of county superintendents all receive their training in this department.

Daily trips out to Lincoln Consolidated school on the college bus assume an importance unparalleled in practice teaching experience. Here the woes and joys of practice teaching can be adequately aired by the scores of victims as they ride back and forth. Principal H. A. Tape is the head of the group of supervising teachers at Lincoln.

The social center—the "live spot"—THE place to go—that's Charles McKenny Hall, the college Union.

When Joe College has a meeting he treks to the Union, and Betty Co-ed follows suit. When Joe and Betty want to dance they go there together. In fact there is an endless stream of collegians in and out of the Union continuously, simply because there are scores of things going on there continuously.

And who is it that makes sure there are no hitches in this endlessly moving machinery? William H. Brownrigg keeps it in motion with the invaluable aid of Social Director, Florence L. Lyman. Two busy people!

Mrs. Buck

Miss Wells

The two new women's dormitories, Bertha Goodison and Julia Anne King, also play an important part in the social life on the campus. Besides sponsoring parties and games, the girls are given instructions in etiquette and the finer points of social contact. Mrs. Nina B. Buck and Miss Lucy B. Wells are working in the capacity of dormitory directors. Trials and tribulations may be their lot sometimes, but they are experts at combining discipline and understanding.

WOMEN'S LEAGUE

Hope you like what you're getting in to ; Beachie

Boyden, Reid, Morden, Beach

A wise and merry foursome, "Queen" Jean Morden and her counselors three, guided the activities of the Women's League during this past year. To Vice-President Mary Louise Boyden went the task of presiding over the House Presidents' Council. The varied work of this group is concerned with the rooming house problems with which the coed must cope.

Helen Beach was continuously involved in a session of laborious note taking. In her invaluable secretary's notebook she carries around the revelations of the year's activity within the League . . . and, it's a pretty big book!

To energetic Beth Reid went that complex business which is involved in being comptroller of the currency. Her nimble fingers counted silver pieces and shelled out the greenbacks necessary to support the activities of the League. Incidently, the League itself helps to support a number of campus interests.

The Executive Board of the Women's League is composed of two groups of go-getters. In the group pictured below, we see about a dozen committee chairmen whose duties lie in the work which their individual field presents. For instance the League cares for timid Freshmen through its Campus Sister program. But there are lots of other committees, and in case you might be interested in the leaders of them, here they are:

Assemblies . . . Elsin Goodrich
Campus Sisters . . Marion Schram
Clubs . . . . . Betty Jessup
Constitution . . Elinor Van Atta
Elections . . . . Phyllis Nelson
Faculty Chats . . Dorothy St. Peter
Finance . . . . Muriel Sondeen

Rules . . . . . Filia Spacil
Service . . . . . Helen Ureen
Social . . . . Helen Holleran
Student Activities . Elizabeth Walker
Student Advisors . . . . Helen Weymouth

Jessup, St. Peter, Weymouth, Sondeen, Verkler, Goodrich, Holleran
Spacil, Ureen, Walker, Van Atta, Nelson, Schram

Pictured below is the second division of the women's Executive Board. They are entitled the members-at-large, and their duties are involved in settling campus questions, especially those with which the coeds are concerned. (But we don't mean to imply they draw the line with coed problems—they definitely don't!) This group works with the officers and the committee chairmen, and it is through smooth cooperation that attempts are made to settle things.

The ability of the Board to do its job has been proved this year. How? What about those excellent Faculty Chats which they sponsored? Didn't you go to either the Harvest Hop or the "Cotton Ball"? Say, kid, you missed something! And you Freshmen, how would you have liked it if you had been left to your own devices for the first week on campus? Then, too, that little lunch they served at the Tea Tiffins made it a lot easier to really know the faculty. Now, don't you agree that the Women's League does "do things"?

To the Advisory Board goes the unhappy duty of "taking to task" the lassies who can't manage to hit the date deadline. The Board extends sympathy and understanding to the girls who come in a few minutes late from an important evening. It further extends somewhat of a punishment, but only in rare cases is the punishment of a nature to drive terror into the hearts of the innocent campus maids. It just serves as the body needed on every campus to make people understand that rules are made to be obeyed.

Like every other board the Advisory Board has to have at its head someone to guide it. Selma Hartung has served as chairman of the Board for the past year. Other members are either elected by the women on campus or by the Executive Board.

Campbell, Qualmann, Hughes, Alfsen

MEN'S UNION

To Messrs. Hughes, Qualmann, Alfsen, and Campbell went the offices of primary importance in the Men's Union, that organization for men only whose work corresponds to that of the Women's League. When popular "Spike" resigned the office of chief prexy at the end of the first semester it was refilled by vice-president Walt, with Executive Board member Ralph Hubbard moving up to the vice-presidential chair. David Campbell and Carl Alfsen retained their respective jobs as secretary and treasurer throughout the year.

Every man on campus is part of the Men's Union. Nothing exclusive about the Union except the super-exclusive way in which it handles its all-inclusive job of handling everything!

Meet the Executive Board and you meet the reason why the wheels of the Men's Union turn as rapidly and as smoothly as they do. Serving on the Board at the beginning of the year were Pat Heffernan, Ralph Hubbard, Lynn Wheater, Fred Swafford, Ed Kontrymowicz, Ralph Gildenstein, and Mac McCulloch.

These nonchalant spokesmen for the rights of men have a way of seeing that the men have their right in a way that is all right. They put on the year's social calendar at least two of the most important parties of the year. To Ralph Hubbard we toss the bouquets for a glowing Yule Log Drag, and to Fred Swafford we breeze compliments ad infinitum for an unparalleled Spring Breeze.

Conolly

Kahal

At the end of the first semester there was a slight change in the set-up of the Board. With Ralph Hubbard's succession to the vice-presidency the Senior men elected Bob Conolly to replace him. The Freshman lads elected Jack Kahal at the same time, and he succeeded Mac McCulloch.

Student talent was the key word for the first of a number of well-received assemblies. The men also heard the Ford Dixie Eight, and Gus Howard entertained them at another assembly.

Feathers for the Men's Union's collective cap were earned also by the organization of a dandy set-up of Union "Mugs" to show young Joe College around at the beginning of the year. Then, too, they didn't do such a bad job with the Homecoming.

The Union and the League got together this year to work out some campus wide projects. It is the hope of both organizations that even more of such cooperation may be worked out in the future.

Herron

Among the outstanding contributions of the Men's Union to campus life were the popular Coffee Hours. Genial John Herron served as chairman for this branch of activity, bringing to enthusiastic audiences such varied subjects of interest as architecture, international relations, the reduction of crime, and a discussion of the maintenance of federal prisons.

Contributing to the Coffee Hours were Dr. Simon E. Fagerstrom who spoke on Swedish neutrality, and R. S. Gerganoff who spoke about the new men's dormitory which he designed. Speaking on two subjects which are connected with our federal government drive against crime were John J. Ryan, warden at the prison at Milan, and John Bugas, head of the Detroit branch of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. Mr. Ryan and Mr. Bugas spoke on their respective fields of work. All spoke at the Thursday gatherings which were made even more enjoyable by steaming coffee and delicious doughnuts—to say nothing of the two lovely lassies selected each week to reign over the coffee pots.

SOCIAL COMMITTEE

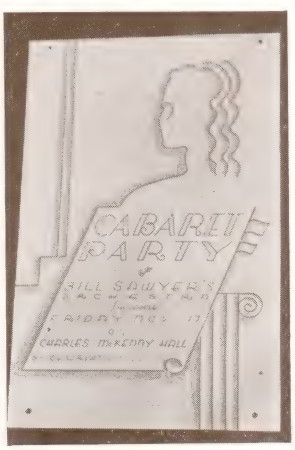
Washburn, Jellis, Poly, Ross, Shaffer, Kipf

Orchids to the Social Committee of 1940! Under the direction of Mrs. Florence Lyman, the social planners for the "campusites and campusettes" of Michigan State Normal College arranged for a variety of entertainments to make everyone happy.

Tuesdays were the standard "date" nights for the Kresges, these dime dances from 6:30 to 7:30 provided relaxation from studious tasks, and were always well-attended by "artists of the terpsicore."

The Committee also provided a means for those wishing to learn to dance. Supervised by Miss Augusta Harris and Mrs. Donnabel Vossler, these "classes" met and enjoyed themselves from 6:30 to 7:30 every Thursday evening.

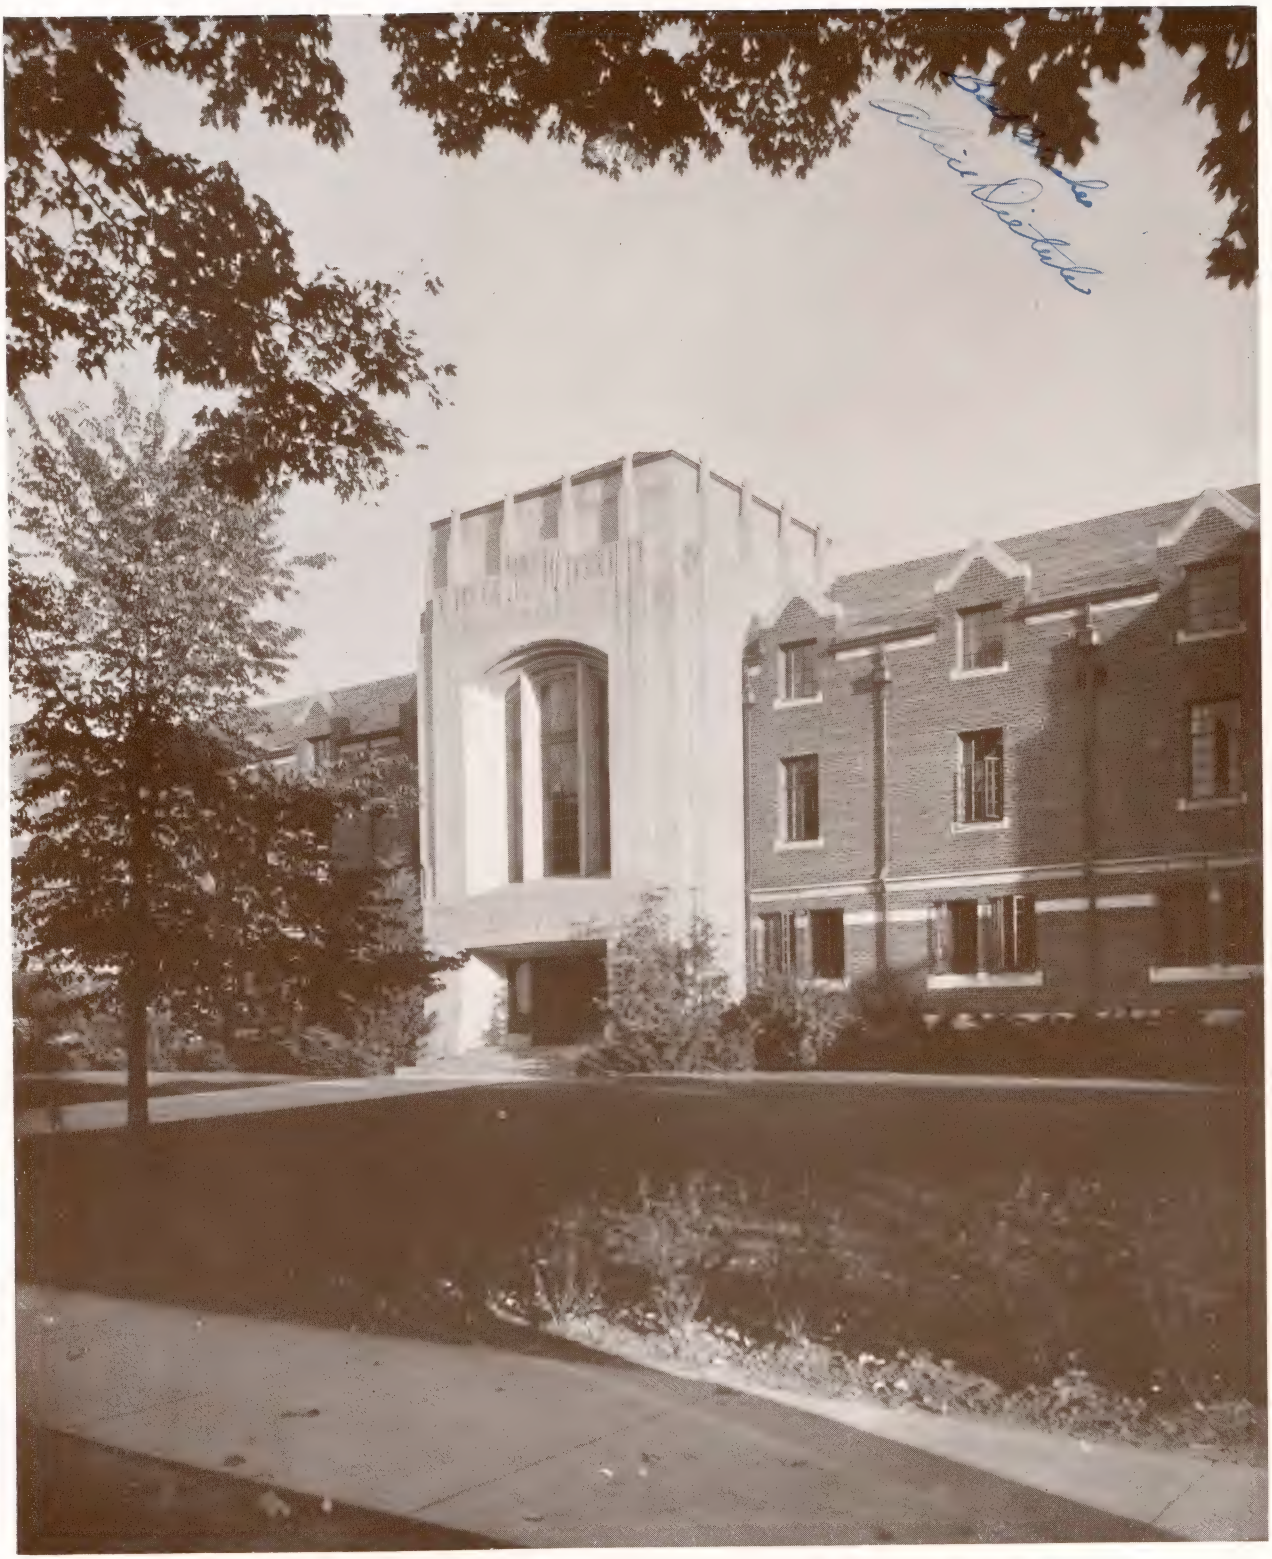
"Variety in music" was the aim of this group, so would-be-quiet weekends were changed into active ones by novel Friday and Saturday night dances. To the tunes of different dance bands, therefore, our collegians frolicked at these all-college parties.



Then the Cabaret Party! This annual semi-formal transformed McKenny ballroom in true night club fashion. Music was provided for by Bill Sawyer and his band, and their own specialty numbers supplied the gala floor show.

As a parting present before the Christmas holidays, our Committee inaugurated a sure-cure method for doing away with "suitcase collegians"—by having Open House Night at McKenny Hall! Dancing, card-playing, games, and refreshments were participated in by the student body. The affair was a huge success.

After vacation, more college parties were arranged for. With an entertainment program such as this, why shouldn't our Social Committee receive bouquets?



Senior Class

Editor . . . . . DON MARSHALL

On our right may we present a few of those individuals who touched the match to the pre-Yuletide celebrations that annually hit the campus. This year, the senior class played a vital role in welcoming the Christmastime spirit by sponsoring the second annual Christmas Sing. For Seniors only they presented the "Snowball," an informal dancing party. Evelyn Mueckler and Al Bohms, aided by Vice-Prexy Mutter, guided the Sing Committee, while Marjorie Lester and Orville Barnes, with the assistance of Treasurer Florence Martin, rolled the "Snowball" into the social spotlight.

To assist the officers in smooth sailing, three seniors were appointed shortly after the beginning of the first semester. The people whose counsel helped solve senior perplexities throughout the year were Betty Rice, Jess Davis, and John Howard. Together with the class officers they comprised what is known as the Senior Advisory Board.

Saying good-bye to a campus haunted with the memories of four long years of happy associations resolves itself into something of a complex business. To meet these complexities each year, the graduating class selects a number of persons, whom they believe are well qualified, to direct the various activities which have come to be a part of the farewells. Plans for that most picturesque of all graduating traditions, the Lantern Walk, were entrusted to Hilda Levin and Richard Ferman. Geraldine Schill and Robert Chapman, aided by Advisor John Howard, directed the Senior Class Day program, which this year reviewed the talent in the class of '40.

Faye Jack and Richard Yeager placed the last bid for top dance honors for the class of '40 when they served as co-chairmen for that final grad frolic, the Farewell Dance . . . . when they say Auf Wiederschen with music.

When a student carries a cane in the joyous month of June, you guess something about him. You're right in guessing he's a senior. In charge of acquiring and distributing these senior identifications were Helene Langthorne and Edmund Positas, co-chairmen of the cane committee.

The contributions of the Senior Class to the social whirl of the campus included:

Toting a supersized diploma, somewhat prematurely, in a supersized Homecoming Parade . . .

Taking the credit for ushering in the Yuletide season with the class-sponsored Christmas Sing, where the whole campus sings . . . and sings . . . and sings . . . till the rafters of Pease do ring . . . and ring!

Dancing to the tune of the Christmas spirit in the manner informal at the "Snowball" . . .

Lots of luck
love. Mary -
Don't ever forget the two classes we struggled through - but we sure did have fun
in Bus. Law. Mary Welfare

Junior Class

Editor . . . . . HELEN HOLLERAN

WE HATE to brag! Possibly if you inquired around campus, you would gather a unanimous opinion that the class of 1941 is one of the most, if not the most modest, unassuming class in the college. But say, for simple, unadorned (we might even say stark) truth, have you ever seen or heard of a more beautiful J HOP?

It wasn't only because the ballroom glowed in a rosy mist, and huge modernistic blocks of blue and silver gave off "J HOP" and "1941" in a thousand different shades and tints (although it was a nice touch, we must admit). It wasn't just the fact that Joe Sander's "Ole Left Hander" music swung out over the airways of WWJ for a mellow half hour (even though he did surpass any orchestra heard around these Huron Hills for quite a while). It probably wasn't even the fact that the wide gold bracelet favors were so darned cute and smart, or that the coffee and sandwiches served right around midnight just hit the spot, or that everyone had such a swell time that they weren't ready to leave at two a.m., or . . . .

So far as the Juniors can figure, it was simply that a supremely super party was given on February twenty-third, nineteen hundred forty by a class that has made history in party-giving, and is now content to sit back and rest a while on a flock of well-deserved laurels. We hate to brag, but say . . . !

This is not
you on me

Dearest Pal-

Together always; together forever, is definitely going to be my motto. Yes, our fun is just beginning, and it will always continue. How can it help but run smoothly when one of us (you) is so perfect. No matter who you know; they will always seem imperfect beside you. You will always deserve the best and I'm sure you have someone now who will see you get it. He is very lucky to have you, in every sense of the word. I ain't being sentimental ole pal, I means it.

Shirley Anne.

Sophomore Class

Editor . . . . . RAY GLEASON

Eager to continue the success of their Freshman year, the class of '42 returned to the campus in September bursting with plans for the big event of the year — Homecoming and class games. Not appalled by the huge number of greenies, they discharged their traditional duty of breaking in the yearling with the usual "Pot Frosh!"

Accomplishing the never-before, the sophs made history at the class games, for under the leadership of John Shoemaker, the second year men proceeded to tally wins in every event. Starting from the moment when Shoemaker bowled over Jack Ross in the opening contest of the games until the final melee at the pole, it was only in a few instances that the underclassmen even threatened to win the coveted brown jug.

Victory was the keynote of the class that week-end, for not only did they defeat the Juniors, their celebrated rivals, in the class float competition, and receive the honored trophy, but they also won the Homecoming interclass relays. It was at a class meeting to plan the Victory Ball that Shoemaker declared, "Well, we won the jug; we won the cup; we won the races; and there was nothing else to win, or we would have been there."

Ross, Bartley

Pointing to the Sophomore Swirl on March 29 as vying with the J Hop as the outstanding party of the year are the two hundred fortunate girls who treasure the black, gold-trimmed compacts as souvenirs of a most pleasant event. Herb Ritz, popular dance maestro from Ann Arbor, offered the pleasing "Fashions in Melody" as a theme. They were presented by the comely singer who emerged from a huge compact in the center of the stage. She was costumed to fit the period of her songs which ranged from 1890 to the present.

The success of the party must be attributed to the ingenuity of a hard-working Soph Swirl committee headed by Mary Esther Ross and Paul Bartley. Responsible for the decorations were Shirley Ann Nepodal with assistants Lois Cook, Bob Blumenshine, and Jim Dau. Grace Morningstar acted as chairman of the program committee with John Kenfield and Betty Pillsbury as members. Geraldine Bird, aided by Stanley Richardson, Bill Parker, and Jeanette Richards, headed the publicity committee. Bob LaRue handled the tickets and was assisted by Jane Shoemaker. Barney Dyer led the music committee with Ken Cleary, Barbara Neary, and Bernice Jacobs as colleagues. Aided by Bernadine Smith, Mills Wilber was chairman of the floor committee.

Freshman Class

Editor . . . PHYLLIS GRIGGS

Ross, Hersh

The Freshmen are the underdogs
As all you upper classmen know;
You stole the nether garments of
Our males a while ago.

To help combat the Sophomores
And give us lots of vim,
We chose Jack Ross and Norma Hersh,
To lead us on to win.

Our teams fought hard for '43
In tug of war and races.
They waded, wrestled, tugged, and ran
With green paint on their faces.

We found the worst was yet to come
In battling for our marks.
By sad experience some have learned
Prof's bites are worse than barks.

We chose Ralph Chapman president
Of our great Freshman class.
To assist him in his duties
We chose a comely lass. (Betty Jackson to you.)

Bill Hopps keeps all our finances;
We trust the lad you see.
Rol Langerman takes all the notes
For the class of '43.

We've stood a lot of ribbing,
But we've shown that we can take it.
We'll carry on traditions, for
We know old Ypsi's what we make it.

The Stoic Society this year reaches a cross-road in its activity with the retirement of its founder and patron, J. Stuart Lathers. The group feels that the loss of Mr. Lathers as patron will be realized very much when the organization starts work at the beginning of next year. To show the respect and love for Mr. Lathers that Stoics, old and new, have, the Society this year had its banquet in his honor. At that time a scholarship, to be known as the J. Stuart Lathers Scholarship, was presented to the college by the group.

Besides the Lathers scholarship which is composed of funds raised by the Society, a second scholarship was added to the already impressive list of Stoic scholarships. The second scholarship was given in honor of President L. H. Jones by his daughter. This raises the number of Stoic scholarships to ten at the present time.

Besides the annual banquet the Stoics also sponsored their annual White Elephant Sale and May Morning Breakfast at which time the recipients of next year's scholarship awards were announced.

Of course, Dean Hover and Miss Martha Best again this year contributed their valuable aid and inspiration. Muriel Sondeen served as president of the Society and Elsin Goodrich was secretary-treasurer.

The local chapter of Kappa Delta Pi, national honor society in education, completed a year of delightful and progressive activity. The aims of the organization are to further professional interest and to promote effective cooperation among teachers.

As usual the group started off the year with the somewhat traditional meeting at the home of Dr. Turner, and the remaining monthly meetings included a diversity of pleasurable evenings. President Don Marshall journeyed to the national convention in St. Louis and brought back with him an interesting resume which was presented to Pi chapter at the annual pledging of new members.

The election and pledging of the thirty-six new members was followed in April by the initiation banquet, at which Dr. William Chandler Bagley, nationally known educator and official of Kappa Delta Pi, was the principle speaker.

In May, Kappa Delta Pi honored the underclassmen who ranked at the top of their class scholastically. With Commencement comes the Alumni Breakfast, at which time many active Kadelpians become alumni.

This pleasant and successful year was guided by Don Marshall, president; Jean Howard, vice-president; Rita Speas, corresponding secretary; Betty Jessup, recording secretary; and Albert Riddering, treasurer. Dr. Harvey L. Turner is counselor, and Miss Martha Best, faculty sponsor.

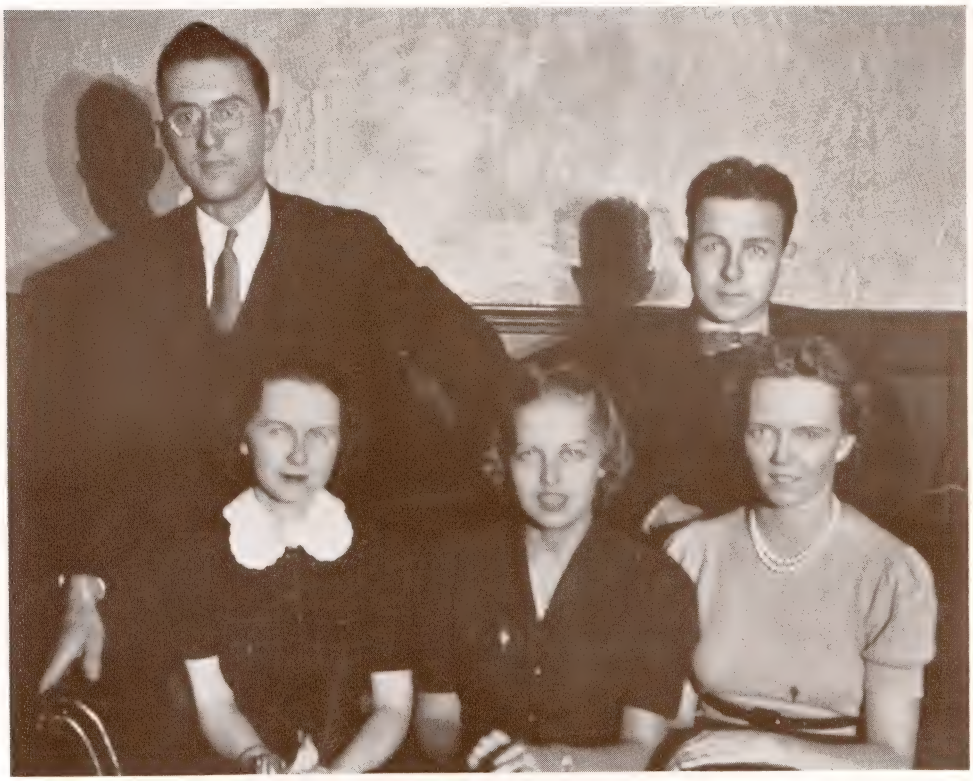
Pi Kappa Delta, national forensic honorary society, is represented by an active local chapter. Under its banner are held the various forensic activities, including both men's and women's debate, the general and peace oratorical contests, and extemporaneous speaking. These numerous forensic events are supplemented by social highlights unparalleled for real enjoyment. Probably if one were to ask a seasoned speaker what was most exciting in the way of Pi Kappa Delta activities, he would reply that the trips to other campuses to engage in speaking contests are unrivaled for real fun and lots of information on the side.

In the spring several new members were elected to the organization. Lenora Haab, Robert Chapman, Craig Davids, Philip Frank, Glyone Mahaffy, and William Teufel were elected from the two debate squads. W. C. Oliver came in with both the order of debate and the order of oratory, and Betty Jessup was elected to the order of oratory. Dorothy Hearn, Ruth Huber, and Harold Holt were the three members who this year earned their diamond key of special distinction.

PI KAPPA DELTA OFFICERS



Lund, Hearn, Huber, Weinlander, Perryman

The local chapter of the national honor forensic society has been responsible since 1925 for conducting the extra curricular public speaking activities of the campus. The officers are Ruth E. Huber, president; June Perryman, women's vice-president; Dennis Lund, men's vice-president; Dorothy H. Hearn, secretary; and Max M. Weinlander, treasurer. The patron is Dr. Frederick B. McKay, and the associate patron, Professor Harry T. Wood.

WODESO

Sinn, Miller, Minnick, Langthorne, Mr. McKay, Baske, Maxwell
Sheppard, Haab, Holt, Hearn, Huber, Emboden, Goodrich, Walsh

The Wodeso Club has just completed its twenty-fifth year of activity under the direction of its President, Dorothy Hearn, and its critic, Dr. McKay. The question for the year's discussions was: "The United States should follow a policy of strict economic and military isolation toward all nations outside the Western Hemisphere engaged in armed international or civil conflict."

Its members engaged in twenty-seven debates and round table discussions with the University of Toledo, Heidelberg, DeSales, Bowling Green State, Michigan State, Albion, Hope, Western State Teachers' College, Kalamazoo, Hillsdale, Calvin, and Sigma Rho Tau of the University of Michigan. In the University of Toledo tournament, seven debates were won and one lost. In the state debate tournament, three debates were won and five lost.

Of the first line teams, Dorothy Hearn and Ruth Huber were awarded the Pi Kappa Delta diamond key of Special Distinction, while Helene Langthorne received the key of the degree of Honor. Lenora Haab became a member of Pi Kappa Delta with the degree of Proficiency.

MEN'S DEBATE

Holt, Teufel, Chapman, Eastman, Humbert
Lecznar, Rohr, Frank, Taubman, Hauk, Mahaffy, Niparko, Hubbard
Chapman, Weinlander, Lund, Mr. Wood, Oliver, Davids

Men's Debate for the year 1939-40 centered on the "Isolation" question. The season started with a Discussion Group meeting with Heidelberg and Albion which was followed by a State Discussion Group meeting at Michigan State College. During the year eighteen men participated in sixty debates. The men attended four tournaments during the year; the first one was held at Ypsilanti as a triangular meet with Heidelberg, and Albion in December. In January, representatives of twelve colleges met at Albion, and in the following month the State Tournament was held at Michigan State College. Ten men attended the Great Lakes Tournament at Baldwin-Wallace College at Berea, Ohio, in March. Of the eighteen debaters only four were members of Pi Kappa Delta, but the showing made by the Freshman Squad promises well for the future.

At the close of the year the following men were elected to Pi Kappa Delta: Robert Chapman, Craig Davids, Philip Frank, Glyone Mahaffy, W. C. Oliver, and William Teufel. Harold Holt, having participated in twenty-seven debates, was awarded the diamond key of Special Distinction. Max Weinlander was raised to the Degree of Proficiency, and Dennis Lund and Ralph Hubbard attained the Degree of Honor.

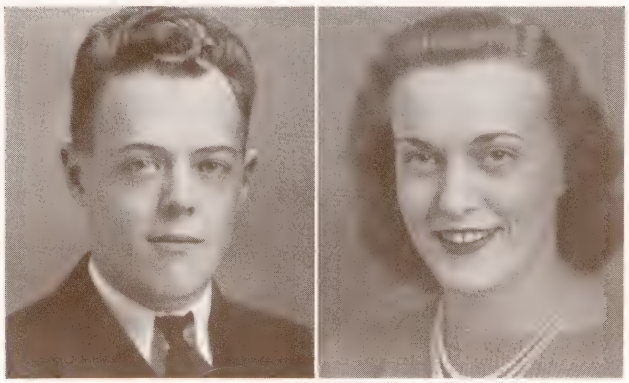
EXTEMPORANEOUS SPEAKING



MacFadden Baske

The fifty-first annual oratory contest was won by Betty Jessup, whose subject was "With Malice Toward None," and W. C. Oliver, who spoke on "Taking Our Latitude." They spoke in the state contest at Central State Teachers' College, March 1. Mr. Oliver survived the preliminaries and received fourth place in the final contest.

Ray L. Gleason won the twenty-first annual peace contest on February 20 with his speech on "The Great Achievement," and later entered the state contest at Albion College.

Joyce Baske and Charles MacFadden were chosen as the college extempore speakers. In the state contest Miss Baske was selected as one of the finalists, while Mr. MacFadden was eliminated in the preliminaries.

LITTLE THEATRE PLAYERS

Bartley, Skagen, Granger, Sweet
Mauritho, Augustus, Polzin, Foote, Light
Mahaffy, Gessinger, Woods, L. Dean, Newnham, Hellems, Chrzanowski, Watterworth
M. Dean, Teufel, Warner, Humbert, Marsh

The art of histrionics and all the technicalities it involves is the reason for the existence of that popular group known as the Little Theatre Players. The members are enthusiastic would-be actors and actresses, or producers and directors. To each and all "The play's the thing!"

Among the highlights of the year was the group's presentation of "Hist! She's a Man" before a Woman's League assembly and of a clever English play before the members of Euthalia.

The players welcome within their membership all those interested in play production. Paul Bartley was president of the club this year, and Edna Skagen was secretary-treasurer.

CAMPUS CHORISTERS

Kidd, Bass, Mutter, Montean, Stier, Schoensee, Bubbs, Campbell, Wiltse, Britt, Rye, Osberne
M. Crothers, Begel, C. Johnson, Shick, Edgar, Rice, Philipp, Fair, White, M. Johnson, Goodrich, G. Crothers, Dau
Mauritho, Tallmadge, Ott, Kuhl, Powell, Weir, Vollmar, Ludwig, Harris, Mueckler

The Campus Choristers climaxed their fourth year of existence in a blaze of glory when they presented the annual May Musicale in the ballroom of Charles McKenny Hall on the evening of May 19. Elton Powell again directed the group for a year of activity and fun for the Choristers and appreciation and enjoyment for the general public. Both the Men's Union and the Women's League listened in assemblies to the music of the group which they so generously sponsor. The Choristers also presented several Matinee Musicales in Charles McKenny Hall and gave concerts in Wyandotte and Center Line. Their fine rendition of "The Three Kings" and Elton Powell's own arrangement of "Silent Night" helped to make the Christmas Sing a success.

The group is democratic in organization and is guided by a steering committee elected in the spring of each year. This year Director Powell has been assisted by Betty Rice, secretary; Bob Rye, publicity manager; Dorothy Begel, social director; and Jim Dau and Seymour Bass, business managers for the first and second semesters respectively. Evelyn Mueckler is the accompanist and Professor Frederick Alexander is the faculty advisor.

ORCHESTRA

With the end of this year, the Michigan State Normal College Symphony Orchestra is completing nine successful years as a student organization. Under the capable direction of Conductor Marius Fossenkemper, first clarinetist of the Detroit Symphony, the orchestra has rapidly increased in size from thirty-one members in 1931 to seventy-five splendid young musicians at the present time. With each year the orchestra progressed in quality of musicianship, and at the present time is an exceptionally excellent one for a college organization.

During the season of 1939-40, the orchestra has given eight Sunday afternoon concerts of fine quality concert music. Both students and professional players composed the list of soloists who have appeared with the orchestra during this past season.

The work of this orchestra, which is undoubtedly the finest ever to be developed at the Michigan State Normal College, is a source of great pride to the college.

BAND

The Normal College Band, under the direction of D. Chester Ryan, is a vital part of the Normal College Conservatory.

What would a football game be without the inspiring presence of the Band? Besides playing at the home games last season, the Band accompanied the football team to Kalamazoo College where it set the flash of the green and white to music on the celery-city gridiron. Every other year the Band travels with the pigskin squad to Central State Teacher's College, at Mt. Pleasant.

The two concerts given the past year were received with an enthusiasm which proved that the Band is capable of a high degree of performance, in situations other than athletic events.

The Band is open to all students and scholastic credit is given for the time spent in rehearsal and public performance. The Men's Union recognizes the work of the band by giving the members yearly awards.

CHOIR

Concerning the Michigan State Normal College Choir words are superfluous. For what can be said of this organization and its enthusiastic director that has not been said many times before? Perhaps greater emphasis can be placed on the brilliant adjectives that year after year describe the fine work the choir annually gives forth.

Sufficient proof of the eager reception of the Christmas concert of 1939 was evidenced by the capacity crowd in Pease auditorium when scores of choral music lovers lined the walls in obedience to the "Standing Room Only" sign. Concerning the 1940 production of the Bach festival, the following appreciation was sent by Ann Arbor's eminent organist, Palmer Christian: "It was an uplifting presentation of choral art—flexibility, poise, wonderful rhythmic control, quality of tone, reverence of attitude all blended into a challenging result."

MUSIC CLUB

Miss McAndrew, Miss McManus, Miss James, Miss Grattan, Miss Ashby, Garen, Mrs. Gray, Mrs. Wortley, Miss Skinner, Mrs. Breakey, Mr. Ryan

The vim and vigor of the band, the symphonic rhythms of the orchestra, the soaring voices of the choir—they're all tuned into one mellow note in the form of the newly organized music club.

This group counts members from the three outstanding musical organizations on campus within its fold, 27 of which were accepted as new members at the annual formal invitational banquet. The seasonal festivities included the Pumpkin Promenade, the Valentine meeting, and the May Breakfast. And it's all said with music!

Guiding the activities of the club is Miss Lillian Ashby, who serves as its sponsor. Working hard to make the first year under the new system of organization a success were President Henry Garen, Vice-President Elmer Ross, and Secretary-Treasurer Irene McCutcheon.

SODALITAS LATINA

Lentz, Graves, Mowat, Nichols, Miss Allison, Schwarzkopf, Haab, Slater, Tappan, Newnham, Perry Riddering, Miller, Miss Case, Davis, Reno, Spacil, Marsh

A modern interpretation of Caesar and Cicero and Virgil is the keynote of the constant activity of the Sodalitas Latina, the club which serves as common ground on which all Latin students may meet.

The organization, one of the oldest on the campus, this year knew a deep loss in the passing of its beloved friend and teacher, Dr. Benjamin L. D'Ooge. Organized under the guidance of Dr. D'Ooge years ago, the activities of the club have furthered the interests of Latin in programs of combined business and pleasure.

This year, its peppy monthly programs, annual formal banquet, and annual picnic were managed chiefly through the efforts of President Delight Davis; Vice President Betty Miller; Secretary Laura Nichols; and Treasurer Marion Swarzkopf. Miss Lucretia Case serves as club sponsor.

HOME ECONOMICS CLUB

Allmendinger, Swayer, Skinner, Francis, Riegel, Pillsbury, Lowry, Fair, Granger, Gowdy, Hall, Lowe, Seitz, McMullin, Campbell, Beach, Haskett, Holmes, Lobbestael, Gillespie

MacKellar, Allen, Brazee, E. Maleski, Geddis, Clark, Shaffer, Emig, Merrill, Storer, Shoemaker, Carman, Kipf, Nichel, Miss Bauch

The future "A-1" homemakers being produced on the Michigan Normal Campus may be found in the ranks of the Home Economics Club. These coeds spend most of their time learning how to cook and to sew—and to love it!

However, during the year, the group proves time after time that variety is the spice of life, and subtly admit that not quite all of it is found in the home. For example, they sponsor an elegant formal party, where floor-length frocks and tuxes and tails are the key-note. A welfare project requiring time and effort is another highlight of the year, to say nothing of the formal dinner and the alumni luncheon.

In order to be eligible for club membership, a student must be a Home Economics major or minor, with a vital interest in the technicalities of the only real way to a man's heart! Moreen Shaffer served as club president this year.

INDUSTRIAL ARTS CLUB

MacDonald, Wickett, E. Majorana, Gildenstein, Swafford

Mr. Chamberlain, Miss Hatton, Miss Morrison, Mr. Lappinen, Mr. Willoughby, Washburn, Westcott, Sarnes, Stuber, Glow

The Industrial Arts Club, established in 1912, has functioned continuously as a part of the Industrial Arts Department. Its chief aims include the promoting of a better understanding between the students and the faculty, directors of industrial arts in the state, superintendents of schools, and members of the State Department of Education.

This group, looking always to the future, takes an active part in college affairs and cooperates in every possible way to gain better understanding of the field of industrial arts and possible improvements in the work now being done throughout the state. Visits are made to schools, industrial plants, and professional meetings whenever possible, and each year the club sponsors an alumni banquet at which time members of the State Department of Education in industrial arts work and school administrators express their views and describe their work.

Eyes and ears open, minds and hands busy—that's the spirit of this club which is striving to do its best at all times, and to derive real enjoyment from the realization that the best can always be made better!

The Physical Education Club is made up, as one could guess from its name, of the students on campus who are preparing to supervise physical training. During the year the group held numerous social and business meetings when they watched motion pictures of football games and heard articles of interest concerning the field of physical education.

Outstanding in the year's activities was the College Circus which the club sponsored for the first time since 1937. The circus was presented on the evenings of April 2 and 3 and was really a "howling success."

President Jess Davis attended the National Physical Education Convention in Chicago, and brought back to the club much valuable information on happenings in the field throughout the United States.

A picnic at Cass Benton Park in Northville ended the activities of the year which were guided by the following officers: president, Jess Davis; vice-president, Bill Lamiman; secretary, Bernice Jacobs; and treasurer, Geraldine Henderson.

The little stone building known as "Starkweather" is the home of one of the most active groups on campus, the Y.W.C.A.

Matin's and Holy Week Services develop the religious theme of this popular organization; world friendship with its world acquaintance tour and visits with other races develop the international relations theme; social service, social activities, camera and glee club work are helping to broaden the interests of the college girls who are "Y" members.

The Y.W.C.A. not only furnishes fun and companionship for coeds but also gives them an opportunity to develop in themselves qualities of leadership and cooperation which enrich their personalities.

Starkweather Hall, a place of companionship, fun, and a variety of other activities, symbolizes the spirit of "our college home."

STUDENT RELIGIOUS COUNCIL

Tompkins, Miss Aitchison, Halstead, Powers, Wiltse, Lowry, Riddering, Reid, Reilly

The Student Religious Council is a campus-wide organization consisting of two representatives from each of the various church groups. The groups represented this year were the Catholic, Jewish, Methodist, Presbyterian, Congregational, Baptist, Episcopalian, and the Y.W.C.A.

Meetings of the Student Religious Council have been held twice a month on Tuesday evening and on four Sunday evenings each semester at Starkweather. During the second semester the annual inter-cabinet dinner was held. The Council also plans at least one social function which is open to all students.

This year the officers who guided the organization's activities were president, Arnold Cooperman; vice-president, June Reilly; secretary, Marjorie Currey; and treasurer, Barbara Geddis. The faculty advisor is Miss Aitchison.

VARSITY FOOTBALL

Coach Elton J. Rynearson opened his fourteenth year of coaching at Michigan Normal with the horizon considerably darker than it was a year ago. The thorn in Ypsi's side was the task of moulding a new forward wall to replace last year's seniors.

Journeying first to Normal, Illinois, the Hurons held a highly touted Normal team to a scoreless tie. The Ryniemen returned to Briggs Field for their first home encounter and went down fighting before a heavier and rangier Tartar team to the tune of a 9-7 score. This game indirectly spelled doom to Ypsi's hopes as Manning and Foster were lost because of injuries for the remainder of the season.

Playing before a capacity crowd of Homecoming rooters, the Green and White lost to Central State Teachers', 14-0. Although the Hurons outgained the Bearcats, their attack bogged down once pay dirt was reached.

Playing under the arc lights, the Hurons walloped Kalamazoo 19-6 to start the second half of the season. Then, with their first victory under their collective belt, the Rynearson lads journeyed to the Wayne Homecoming where they out-maneuvered the Tartars to win 13-6. The next week-end, again under the lights, the Green and White turned in a creditable 16-6 victory over the Alma Scots.

One game remaining with the undefeated Bowling Green powerhouse, Michigan Normal dug deep into the football bag of tricks, trying to keep intact Rynie's thirteen-year-old record of not losing more than two games per season. But Bowling Green's pile-driving offense was too much for them, and Harry Ockerman's juggernaut vanquished the Hurons 23-13.

Considering the early season injuries and the fact that most of the line had to be rebuilt and coordinated with the backfield, the Huron season was comparatively successful. Such stellar backfield men as Valleau, Yeager, Foster, and the incomparable Walsh have performed here for the last time. In the line, the one major loss will be that of Captain Joe Pokrywka, one of the greatest guards ever to wear the green and white of Michigan Normal.

Coach L. W. Olds' thinclads this year enjoyed one of their best indoor and outdoor seasons. Taking in all the big winter relays and sectional meets, the Hurons gave excellent account of themselves in stellar competition.

Opening the indoor season, Michigan Normal met Toledo University and Central State in a triangular meet that proved to be a walkaway for the Green and White. The Hurons amassed 66½ points to 18½ for Toledo and 10½ for Central State. In this meet Tom Quinn broke Abe Rosenkrantz's half-mile record by lowering the existing time from two minutes and seven-tenths seconds to two minutes and two-tenths seconds. Tow-headed Whitey Hlad skimmed the 65-yard low hurdles to tie the existing mark of seven and four-tenths seconds.

Journeying to Indianapolis, the thinclads scored a 75-30 triumph over a highly rated Butler University squad. Team balance in the middle distances again proved to be the victory factor. Hlad continued his winning ways by defeating Butler's ace hurdler, Marshall, in the high hurdles.

At Yost Field House in the recently renewed triangular meet with the University of Michigan and Michigan State College, the high-riding Hurons came out on the short end, finishing a bad third to the Spartans. Hlad took some of the sting out of defeat by defeating Stan Kelly, one of the best hurdlers in the Big Ten, in the high hurdles. The time of eight and one-tenth seconds set a new triangular meet record for the event. Dave Conway and Ralph Gildenstein took seconds in their respective events—the 100 and the 440.

Coach Olds entered his ace relay teams—the two mile, the mile, and the distance medley—in the famed Illinois Relays at Urbana, Illinois. Again the teams came through under pressure to win eight portable radios, two massive bronze plaques, and four gold medals in sweeping the mile, the two mile, and the distance medley relay divisions. The two mile quartet, composed of Zemper, Grindle, Quinn, and Paris, set a new record in their event, erasing a record that had stood for nine years.

In the annual Michigan State Relays at East Lansing the Hurons dominated the meet with eight first places. Hlad set a new carnival record and tied the existing field house record in the high hurdles. Gaynier pulled the surprise of the meet by winning the pole vault at 12 feet 8 inches.

Splitting his squad into two separate units, Coach Olds tried his luck at scoring a double win in both the Butler and Armour Tech Relays. The results were most commendable in that the two mile relay team set a new American College record at Butler, and the team that journeyed to Chicago won the team title with a grand total of some sixty points. Trophies, gold shoes, and medals were added to the already large collection that the Hurons amassed during the season.

BASKETBALL

Coach Rynearson, Bennetts, Cullin, Grant, Kontrymowicz, Misenar, Carlson, Gates
Oxley, Yeager, Siera, Captain Cook, Alfsen, Davis

Winning six games and dropping twelve out of an eighteen game schedule, Coach Rynearson's cagers fared badly in the basketball circles around the state this season. Beginning the season in a royal fashion, the Hurons outshone their traditional rivals, Central State, to win 29-25. That victory was followed by defeats by Albion, Bowling Green, Kalamazoo, Central State, Alma, University of Detroit, Hope, and again, Alma. Rousing themselves from their doldrums, the angry Normal lads whipped St. Mary's, Kalamazoo, Northern State, and Wayne University.

The Hurons played spotty ball, but when they were good there was no question about how good they were. Ample proof of this is found in the thrilling games with Wayne and the University of Detroit—Ypsi's traditional Motor City rivals. For the first time in five years the Hurons overpowered the Tartars from Wayne in a nip-and-tuck game which ended with the Green and White out in front with a score of 34-32.

Captain Joe Cook fulfilled to the utmost the expectations for a team captain in the manner in which he directed and aided the team with his fine fighting spirit. Ray Williams proved to be the spark-plug of the first semester's team. Both he and Ken Hendy showed without a doubt that they were the scrappiest pair on the floor.

The ball-handling fell chiefly to such capable men as Fritz Bennetts, Dick Yeager, Walt Siera, Carl Alfsen, and Jess Davis. In these men Coach Rynearson tried to find a winning combination to fit in with his big men under the basket. John Grant, Burm Misenar, and Harry Carlson were particularly aggressive under the hoop.

This year's graduating seniors are Captain Joe Cook, Dick Yeager, Harry Carlson, and Jess Davis, all of whom have played stellar ball for the Green and White.

BASEBALL

Simonds, Wescott, Petredean, Snyder, Newlands, Barnes
Manager Rothman, Curtis, Carakostas, Heffernan, Renton, Worzniak
Lessel, Oxley, Borovich, Hutchins, Lamiman, Miller
Coach Stites, Shada, Grady, Drusbacky, Siera, Lemmon

Coach Stites, in view of a typically hard season, faced the baseball season with much optimism and spirit. Cheered on by the fine turnout for the initial spring practice sessions and conditioning workouts, Stites mapped out a program that had the boys in fine fettle when the first game rolled around.

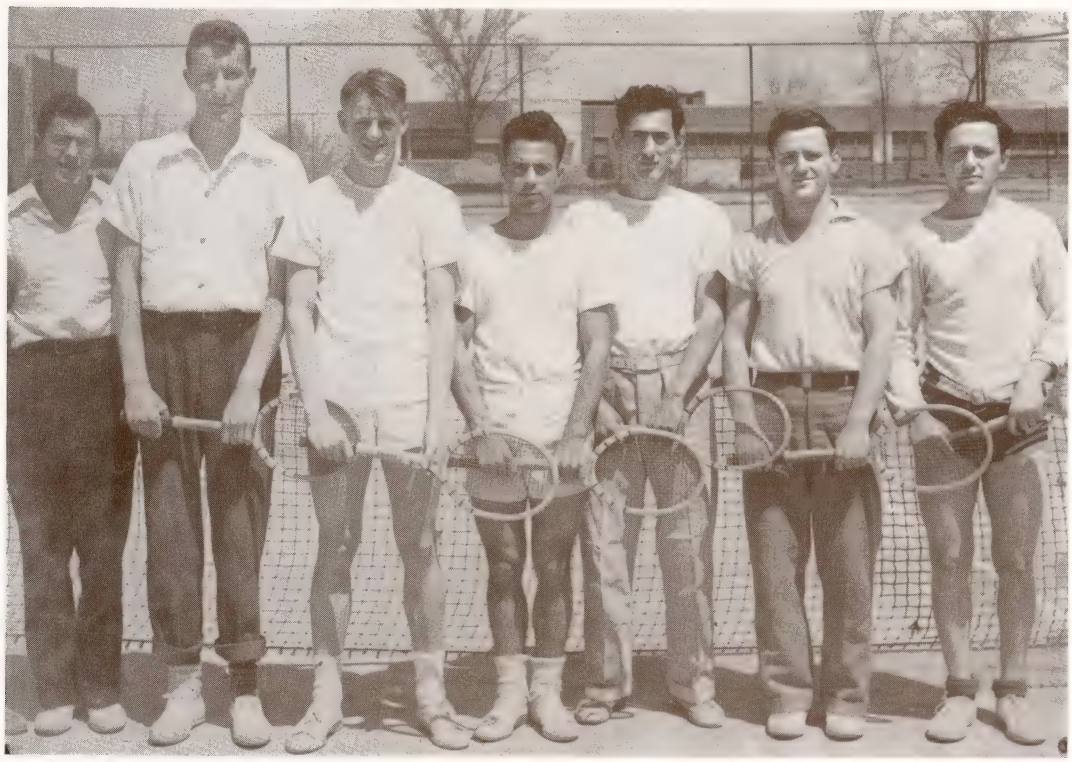
Captain Mike Drusbacky led the corps of returning veterans. Along with Joe Borovich, Andy Newlands, Walt Siera, Ray Dennis, John Wescott, and Bill Lamiman, several sophomores bid seriously for places on the nine. Chief among them were Chuck Oxley, outfielder, and John Shada, infielder. Oxley has an excellent batting eye and a long rangy stride to pull down the long ones. Shada is a hard-driving infielder.

Coach Stites cut his squad to twenty-six men after the spring conditioning workouts. The following men remained: John Wescott, Jack Simonds, Ken Carakostas, Bill Lemmon, and Dale Curtis, pitchers; Barney Dyer, Roy Renton, John Shoemaker, Al Hutchins, Joe Grady, and Carl Alfsen, infielders; Joe Pokrywka, Doug Snyder, and Dick Manning, outfielders; and Larry Miller, Bill Lamiman, and Orville Barnes, catchers.

Facing Alma in a two game series opener, the powerful bats of Siera, Oxley, Borovich, and Newlands silenced the Alma men 18-0 and 8-3. Dennis and Lessel were the winning pitchers.

Hitting the road, the Hurons journeyed to Miami University at Oxford, Ohio, to beat the Buckeye champs 8-6. In this game Siera clouted two home runs to lead his team mates. A powerful Xavier College nine nosed out the Hurons in a thrilling 6-5 encounter. Only a few days before this yearbook deadline we saw the Green and White defeat the University of Michigan in the annual "grudge game." Michigan Normal gave the Big Ten Conference team plenty of competition, and it was not a surprise to many that they won.

TENNIS



Howard, Frogner, Bennetts, Mastromarco, Gordon, H. Schwartz, D. Schwartz

Spurred on by an attractive 12 match schedule, Coach Pop Sampson's racqueteers appeared early in the spring to be on the way to a very successful season. As has been mentioned, the schedule was one of the most attractive in recent years, with a renewal in tennis relations with central State and St. Mary's.

Matches were arranged with U. of D., St. Mary's, Kalamazoo, U. of M., Albion, Central State, Wayne, and Michigan State. The encounters with the U. of D. and Wayne were a home-and-home arrangement.

Rangy Fritz Bennetts, Huron basketball mainstay, was a welcome addition to the squad. Vic Mastromarco, capable Monroe product, bolstered up the singles and added much power to the doubles team. Charles Frogner, the indubitable Schwartz twins, and Sy Gordon rounded out the remainder of the squad and saw plenty of varsity action before the last serve crossed the net in June.

As this yearbook goes to press, the tennis team has scored two triumphs over the University of Detroit's netmen. The Hurons overwhelmed the Titans in the first encounter, winning all but three matches. In the second meeting, the Hurons dropped both doubles matches, but came back strong to grab off four singles matches to come out on the winning end, 4-3. In addition to this, an easy victory was scored over a scrappy St. Mary's squad from Orchard Lake.

GOLF

Lawrence, Bartolacci, Yeager, Captain Sarnes

Michigan Normal's linksmen opened their current season with veterans Dick Yeager and Captain Myron "Mike" Sarnes back to serve as the nucleus around which the varsity squad was built. Yeager had two letters to his credit and was captain of the team 2 years ago, and Sarnes was a letter-winner in the sport. Along with these two capable men, up-and-coming Roy Lawrence and Joe Bartolacci rounded out the foursome that represented the Hurons on the greens this year.

Eleven matches were scheduled, with a home and home series with the University of Detroit, DeSales, Toledo University, Wayne University, Grand Rapids Junior College, and Saint Mary's. Coach L. W. Olds selected Washtenaw Country Club as the site for all the Huron's home matches.

CROSS COUNTRY

Coach Olds, Parker, Grindle, Bubbs, Hansma, Burnie, Puvogel, McClelland
Zemper, Quinn, Captain Hughes, Lee, Johnson

With last year's varsity almost intact and strengthened by two or three top-notch Freshmen, Coach L. W. Olds' hill-and-dalers kept unscathed their enviable record of not losing a dual meet in the last eight years. This year the Hurons chalked up perfect scores against Wayne, Bowling Green and Central State.

At East Lansing, Michigan Normal placed second in the State Intercollegiates to a powerful State squad that went on to win the national crown a little later. A week later the Hurons again placed second to Michigan State in the Michigan A.A.U. meet. There Quinn set a new course record when he beat Leonard of Western by less than a stride.

Quinn later journeyed to the National A.A.U. run in Newark, New Jersey, where he represented the Michigan district. Running against the top-notchers of the nation, Quinn finished seventeenth due to a severe attack of stomach cramps which almost forced him to drop out of the race.

Michigan Normal again bounced back into the national sportlight when Quinn finished fourth in the National Collegiate run and the Hurons, competing against the cream of the nation, took sixth in the team scoring.

Led by Captain-elect Bob Lee a strong group of men will return to form the backbone of next year's team. Retiring Captain Hughes, Leroy Grindle, and Jack Hansma have hung up their shoes after three years of varsity competition. They deserve a world of credit for the team balance and the high spirit of competition they have contributed to the team.

INTRAMURAL

Functioning under two separate managers for the year, the men's intramural program, although curtailed in certain aspects, again provided adequate fun and recreation for the males and enjoyed a comparatively successful year. Dick Pearson, last year's ace intramural manager who retired at the end of the fall semester, and newly appointed Jack Hansma with the able assistance of faculty director, George Marshall, channelled and organized the recreational pursuits of the famed Michigan Normal system into a very efficient unit.

One of the highlights of the year's program was the customary closely competed race between the six fraternities for the athletic plaque given annually in recognition of the fraternity that compiles the highest score in all the sports listed on the year's calendar. Never in the history of the school has such a nip and tuck battle continued throughout the year from the first event of the fall to the last one of the spring.

Arm of Honor, Phi Sigma Epsilon, Kappa Phi Alpha, Phi Delta Pi, and Zeta Chi Sigma gained their share of points in the entire race, to keep the margin between them very slim and variable. The powerful Phi Sigs captured the speedball, basketball, and volleyball tourneys. The Kappa Phi's captured the handball crown, and the Sigma Mu's ran off with the table tennis tournament. Max Reynolds, Sigma Mu, ran off with the Master's crown when he tumbled Louis Lecznar, Kappa Phi. Sy Rothman again won the independent handball crown. Several others won intramural charms and trophies during the extensive program which was sponsored by the department. All-campus cross country meets, track meets, and a special handicap meet were held.

Purchase, Goodson, Pitkethly, Morningstar, Bigger, Neary, Holmes

Jacobs, Peters, Schram, Miss Brewster, Adams, Forker

Since 1925, when the Women's Athletic Association was first installed on this campus, the point system of awards for active participation has been used. During the last year, however, under the guidance of Miss Brewster a new method of award for merit has been installed. Rewards of Y letters, honor roll listings, or selections for an All-Star team were determined by participation in a variety of sports, scholastic rating, and general attitude.

As usual the annual banquet was held late in the spring at which time the Y letters and other awards were presented to girls ranking high in W.A.A. participation.

W.A.A. Board Meeting

HOCKEY

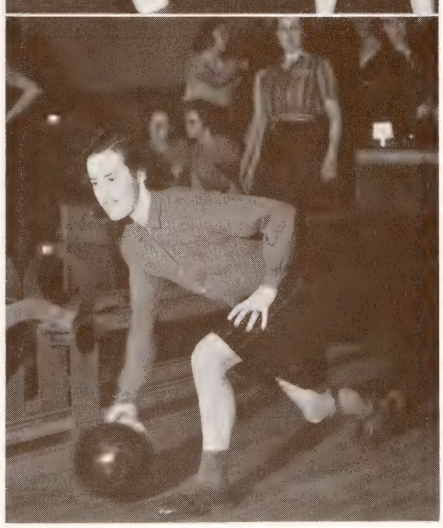
Over thirty girls reported for hockey, and after a heated intramural competition, a champion team was selected to play at Ann Arbor. The girls selected were Margaret Pitkethly, Eleanor Lowell, Jean Fraser, Clarabelle Lee, Barbara Forker, Celia Shapiro, Eileen Crandell, Laura Oien, Louise Van Dommelen.

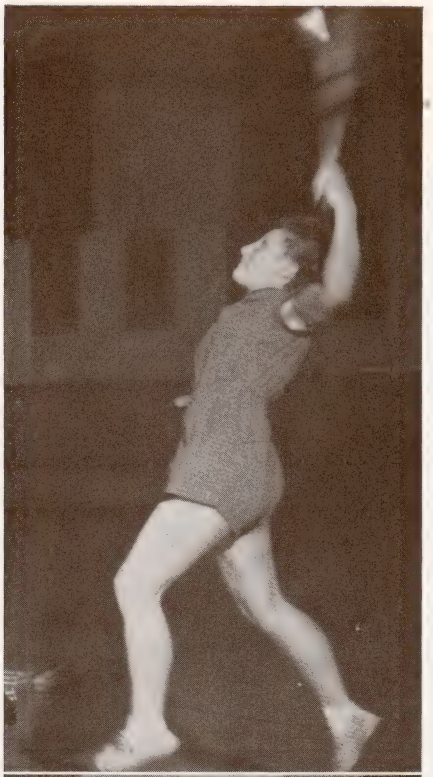
VOLLEY BALL

Sorority and independent teams were combined in the same league this year. Nearly 270 girls participated in the tournament which ended when the Roman Cleansers snatched a close victory from the Blue and Golds.

BOWLING

Under special privileges granted by the newly constructed Riverside Bowling Alleys, women students were allowed to bowl at reduced rates on Mondays and Wednesdays. Besides this voluntary participation, the W.A.A. sponsored both independent and sorority tournaments.





BADMINTON

Growing interest in this sport has been shown by activity in it this winter. The gym was open every Saturday for those who desired to play, and instruction was given for beginners. The W.A.A. sponsored independent and sorority tournaments as well as a tournament for mixed doubles.

SWIMMING

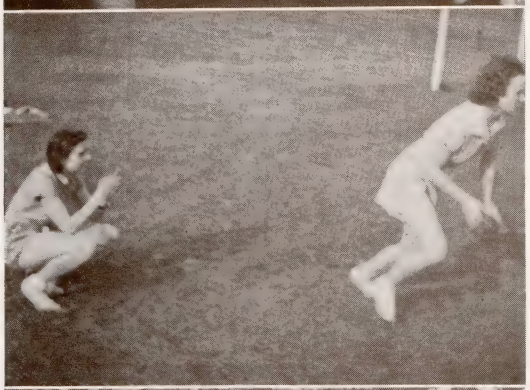
Besides the regular courses in swimming, girls had the opportunity to participate in extra-curricular activity sponsored by the W.A.A. By this means many girls passed their Senior Life Saving tests. In the inter-class meet which was held in December the Seniors proved victorious.

BASKETBALL

This year saw one of the largest turnouts for basketball in W.A.A. history. A system of collaboration on rating with Ann Arbor was instituted. Sorority and independent players together numbered well over 150. The girls selected for the honorary basketball team were Ruth Young, Jean Fraser, Muriel Sondeen, Viola Raymond, Barbara Page, and Clarabelle Lee.

BASEBALL

With spring always comes baseball and this spring saw independent, inter-class, and sorority tournaments. More interest was aroused in this sport, as in many others, this year, making as a whole a successful season.



Annual Award Banquet

These pictures illustrate only three of the features of the Normal campus which make it outstanding in physical education. W.A.A. sponsorship makes them a definite part of the school program.

This year saw the enrollment on this campus of several outstanding athletes. Among them and especially outstanding is Phyllis Lafoy, Canadian women's track champion.

Again the badminton program comes to our attention. Over two hundred women and men participated in the mixed badminton tournament.

Again this year Miss Harris and Mrs. Vossler taught the Thursday evening dancing class. This class gives to those who did not learn to dance before coming to college the opportunity to fill in that break in their education.

ZETA CHI SIGMA

Zeta Chi Sigma was founded on the Michigan State Normal College campus on December 3, 1928, and was incorporated on June 15, 1931. Dr. Willard H. Reninger was the fraternity patron until 1934 when he was replaced by Dr. Clarence Loesell, who still holds that position.

Zeta Chi Sigma has always stressed scholarship, morality, and sportsmanship. In recent years the fraternity has had the highest scholastic average among the fraternities, and also has ranked high above the all-campus average. Athletically Zeta Chi Sigma has always been a keen competitor.

In social affairs the Zeta Chi "Spring Cruise" is rated high among dances sponsored by private organizations. Closed parties, picnics, and outings comprise the rest of their social activities. Through participation in Homecoming, Christmas Sing, and the Spring Sing, Zeta Chi Sigma contributes greatly to the college spirit of good sportsmanship and good will. To keep in touch with the one hundred and fifty alumni members, Zeta Chi publishes for them a monthly bulletin which informs them of all major campus and fraternity activities.

The fraternity mascot has in his one year of residence in Ypsilanti become a familiar figure on the campus. Bruno is still growing, and will grow into the hearts of all students on campus as well as in the hearts of the Zeta Chi's.

Tuesday morning pep rally sees swell display of talent as well as a lot of pep . . .

Everyone trucks out to Sleepy Hollow Friday afternoon where Johnny Shoemaker and his clan annihilate those poor first-year men in a clean sweep of the class games . . . oh, well, you'd have had to wear your pots until Thanksgiving anyway, frosh . . . Norma Hersch lights the traditional bonfire while all the frosh burn . . . Chubby little Don Wille gets telegrams and telegrams at the huge pep meeting Friday nite . . . he's heckle-proof, too . . . Our boys tangle with Central State Saturday afternoon, but those howling Bearcats claw themselves to victory . . . All the guys and gals swing out in a huge dance crowd Sat. nite . . . Emily Adams and Arlene Seaman with the Symphony Orchestra give a super-special concert to wind things up . . . Man, what a week-end . . . Assignments keep stacking up . . . these profs have no mercy . . . Halloween parties are the thing . . . ain't collich wunnerful?

NOVEMBER in the rain . . . or did we use that one before? . . . oh, well, what we lack in originality we make up for in fool-proof familiarity with Michigan weather . . . social season starts off with another all-college party, where the studes get in the groove with Harvey Judson and his Aristocrats . . . Tommy Quinn puts the snatch on the state A.A.U. cross country championship, outsprinting Leonard, of Western State to do so . . . amber and white decorations beautify the ballroom as 200 (count 'em) coeds lure their favorite males to the Harvest Hop, at which Bobby Grayson and his boys give out the gavottes . . . six hundred and fifty frosh are psychologically examined . . . topic of the day is "Which class moron are you?" . . . Juniors pick Margaret Briskey and John Montean for J-Hop chairmen . . . work on this super affair will start immediately, say they . . . Heaven Speaks American, a satire on super-patriots, released by the publishers is by our own Professor Waugh . . . Bill Sawyer plays for the Cabaret Party, last big campus event before Thanksgiving vacation . . . 200 studes attend . . . Aurora staff members prowl about, muttering "Snap out of it and be snapped" . . . Men's Union goes to work and puts on a talent show that is really fine . . . no wimmin allowed, alack-a-day . . . Walt Siera is picked to lead our boys on the gridiron for next year . . . everybody enjoys a bilious attack, and turkey hash, (some call it croquettes) . . . plans are under way for a Christmas Sing again this year . . . In this month of November, 1939, Michigan Normal lost a valued teacher and friend, Miss Ella M. Wilson, late of the Geography department, who had taught in Ypsilanti since 1903.

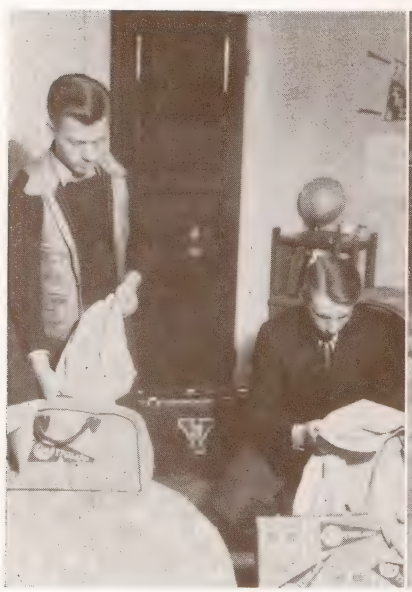
DECEMBER . . . two weeks till vacation and still no snow . . . Doc Thomson tips us off on how to make marriage a success . . . "Develop a more scientific attitude towards it," he sez . . . the social committee adds to its glory with an open house at the Union which brings superlative compliments from all who attend . . . "Let's have more" is the popular cry . . . Santa Claus (or his double) is seen scurrying around to parties held for underprivileged kiddies . . . don't tell me we're having an early Christmas, too . . . Ralphie Hubbard and his gang of assistants put over a slick Drag . . . nice work, fellas . . . Betty Jessup and W. C. Oliver grab top honors in the annual oratory contest . . . more power to 'em . . . Our hoopsters give out with some good scrappy games and keep the bleacherites on their feet most of the time . . . An unusual feature of the annual Christmas Concert is the addition of fifty-four grads singing in the closing "Sanctus" selection . . . how timely is the choir's message in song, "Peace on earth, good will to men" . . . All the guys and gals do a grand bit of caroling at the second Christmas sing sponsored by our benign seniors . . . Christmas spirit just effervesces all over the place . . . For once this last week doesn't mean burning the midnight oil . . . exams don't come till February . . . Hooray for the semester plan . . . Well, s'long, kids . . . watch that New Year's Eve stuff . . . Merry Christmas! . . .

HAPPY NEW YEAR, gang . . . and happy hunting, all you lovely coeds . . . this is your big chance . . . the sub-Normal News conducts a questionnaire with fifty gals who plainly state they will not ask for or pay for a date . . . no cooperation, fellas . . . A bunch of music studes throw a peachy dance to start the social ball rollin' . . . "It'll be an annual affair," say they . . . twenty-one Sophs get invites to join the Stoics . . . said Sophs being members of the upper bracket in scholarship . . . For all those peepul who dance on everyone else's feet Miss Harris and Mrs. Vossler write a slick book on ballroom techniques . . . Doc Olds gets himself appointed head of the A.A.U. track and field committee for the coming year . . . All the gals on campus, bedecked out as songs, once again prove that a hen party can be plenty of fun . . . Over 1200 studes have their pictures snapped for the Aurora . . . "Gee, kid, you look natural; your mouth is wide open" . . . About 216 men on this campus will have a brand new dorm to take over next fall . . . It's conveniently located, too, fellas . . . just a whistle's length from the girls' dorms . . . The initial concert of the Campus Choristers packs in the crowd with those smooth renditions . . . Joe Sanders, the Ole Left Hander, gets the nod from the orchestra committee to take care of the musical end of the J-Hop . . . Oh, happy day . . . The death of our former school nurse, Miss Carolina Supe, ends the month on a reverent note, which cannot fully express the greatness of her character.

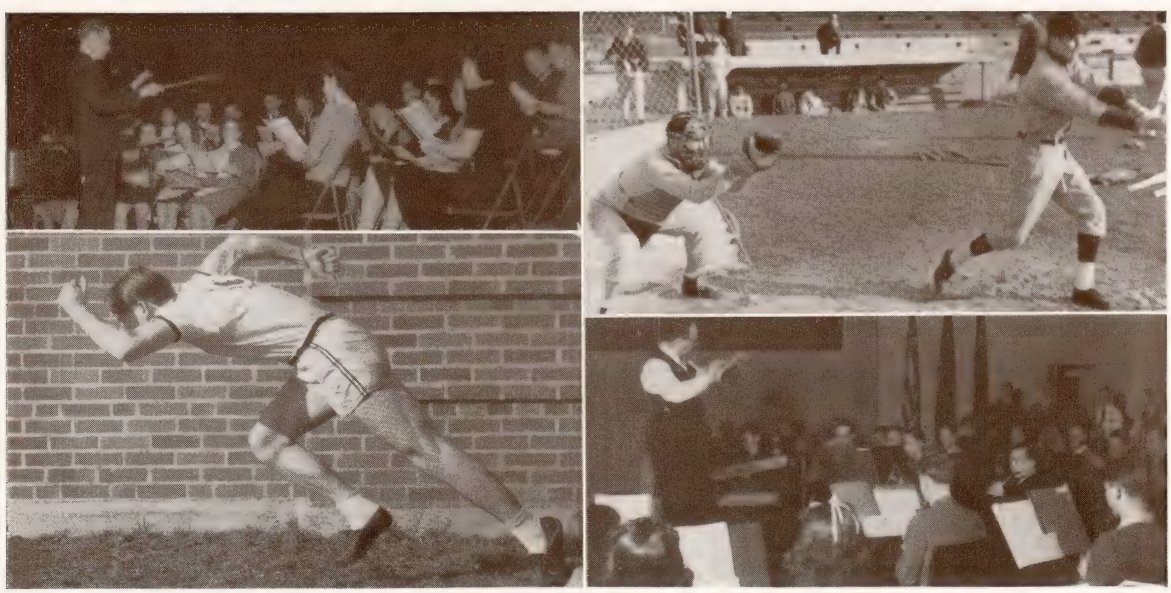
DR. MARION MAGOON was the proud author of an article in Coronet . . . Dr. H. L. Turner appointed to State Education post . . . enough of faculty doings for the nonce . . . it's Feb. 14, I'd like it fine, if you would be my valentine . . . no extra charge for this purely coincidental poetry . . . forty women's debate teams here on Saturday the 17th . . . two new profs take their bows . . . Dr. Harry E. Hoy in geography and Troy L. Stearns in education . . . only two teams return victorious from Men's debate tourney at Lansing . . . Ki yi yi! Charley Eagle Plume spoke to the assembly . . . dances and songs by the genuine Blackfoot Indian made this one of the most enjoyable programs of the year . . . Ray Gleason wins the peace oratory contest . . . on the 22nd, Neville (Spike) Hughes resigned as chief of Men's Union . . . Walt Qualmann elected to fill the gap . . . the ole left hander Joe Sanders pitched melodies at happy hepcats, at a perfectly peachy J-Hop . . . broadcast from WWJ so that them as didn't have 4 bucks could get a vicarious thrill or 2 . . . Architect R. S. Gerganoff talked at the coffee hour on ways and means of building our new boys' dormitory . . . Soph Swirl committees are voted in for the big event of the year, tentatively set for March 29 . . . starting early, so it oughta be good . . . have you heard about that track team of ours? . . . Those boys really go . . . they up and licked Butler University 75-30 . . . Ye Women's League announces that Margaret Briskey, Helen Ureen, and Loraine Peterson will be the big three in coming elections . . . 200 sweater clad sophs have themselves a jam session in Char. Mc. to the tunes of all the big name bands who have condescended to put their offerings down on wax for posterity and nickelodeons . . . our basketball team beat Wayne 34-32 . . . our first victory over the Tartars in 5 years . . . yipee!

SPRING marches in with a snowstorm . . . Mother Nature must have mixed her signals up . . . Helen Ureen chalks up votes from the women on campus for next year's League presidency . . . nice goin', chum . . . elections seem to abound in March . . . Ralphie Chapman takes over the leadership of the freshman class . . . Sororities begin rushing again . . . what to do, sez the bewildered rushee . . . Our track stars are bringing back trophies galore . . . they're breaking records everywhere they go, too . . . we sure are proud of ya, kids . . . A style show is the high-light program of the Women's League assemblies this semester . . . Oh's and ah's float through the auditorium as the various gals parade across the stage in their favorite outfits . . . About 200 people turn out for Doc Ford's banquet . . . we sure hate to see him retire . . . The whole school is saddened to learn of the death of Dr. D'Ooge, who had taught here for over 50 years . . . a great man, beloved by all who knew him . . . Henry Siegel thrills everyone with his violin performance at the Symphony Sunday afternoon concert . . . The Greek letter gals sponsor a Pan-Hellenic Ball for all sororities on campus . . . Some of the fellas are thinking about picketing the local theatres for lower rates . . . the prices are outrageous, say they . . . The annual Bach Festival brings to a brilliant close the choir's work for this year . . . Herb Ritz packs 'em in at the Soph Swirl . . . the decoration committee gets an orchid for its swell job . . . Spring fever hits us with a bang as the snow melts and the temperature shoots up . . . I sure don't feel like studying . . . two more weeks until vacation!

APRIL showers bring May flowers . . . and Spring fever grows stronger . . . "Right this way, ladies and gentlemen, for the greatest show on earth—the one, the only M.S.N.C. circus of the century" . . . 300 students make this event a memorable one . . . Congrats go to the phys ed faculty for a super-swell job . . . Animals never seen before, trapeze artists of the best, tumblers, dancers . . . all take part in those bang-up two nights of showing . . . The crack of wood against leather brings baseball to the front in the field of sports . . . The boys all look like potential Big Leaguers . . . A week of school and then twelve days to recuperate at home . . . Three-fourths of the campus become Indian Thummers to save that train or bus fare . . . Finalists in the interp contest go around muttering to themselves . . . "Why can't I remember that line?" . . . The steering committee of Kadelpians, headed by Don Marshall plan and hold a super banquet with speeches an' everything . . . Ain't education wunnerful? . . . we go to classes and listen to speeches an' then we go to banquets for relaxation and listen to speeches . . . Listening is a great virtue, must be the popular belief . . . Larking Leaguers blossom out in their dainty formals with their best beaus and dance the night away . . . romance is beginning to show its elusive head here and there . . . earth awakens to the tune of birds' songs and the greening of the trees and grass . . .



SPRING definitely hit its stride in May . . . The trees shade the weary students lounging around campus . . . tennis racquets, golf clubs and swimming suits are dug out of the moth balls . . . the candid camera fiend is in his glory . . . he stalks everyone on campus for one of those "informal" shots . . . picnics become a reality and all those adept at making potato salad step to the front . . . life takes on an air of dreamy laziness as all thought of studying is put aside . . . the track boys show their heels to all competitors . . . the music majors perform in their graduation recitals and make everyone proud of their talents . . . the band gives out with a concert . . . Elton Powell wields his baton for the last time over the Campus Choristers as they shower upon their appreciative audience beautiful music . . . days become longer, studes become lazier, and the world becomes lovelier . . . visions of a successful season begin to shape up in the minds of the baseball boys . . . A college without classes is considered the ideal place to spend four years . . .



JUNE is dedicated to seniors and final exams . . . the placement office is working fast and furious to give all our potential teachers a chance to show their stuff . . . the end of the school year has become an actuality . . . the thoughts of saying "good-by" take a lot of the joy out of much-looked-for vacation . . . graduation week-end sends out another grand bunch of graduates with the good wishes of those left behind . . . underclassmen look ahead . . .

Another year has become a memory . . .

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

It is only through the combined efforts of many that a book such as this can be published. The opportunity to thank those who have so ably assisted this year has at last arrived, and we now wish to express our gratitude to these people:

To the members of the staff who have so willingly contributed time and energy;

To the faculty and members of the student body who have given inspiration and good wishes;

And finally, to The Service Engraving Company, The Ann Arbor Press, The Smith-Malloy Company, and Miller's Studio whose fine work and great assistance have made possible the publication of a very presentable 1940 Aurora.
